Enduring understandings

Media inventions have changed many cultures' lifestyles over the past five hundred years.

The lives of those in a media-rich world are quite different than those without modern media inventions.

Effectively communicating a point of view about the effect of media on people's lives requires much thought, planning, and skill.

Essential Questions

What are some benefits of living in a media-rich world?

What are some disadvantages of living in a media-rich world?

How can you use media to effectively communicate your views about the effect of media on people's lives?

How does the comparison of your time capsule sheets confirm your own media literacy?
